INFO FROM THE EDITOR

I want to thank all of the Club Members for allowing me to be the club Editor for the past two years and putting up with late delivery of the Newsletter at times.

I have enjoyed doing the newsletter and reading the letters the Club has received.

I will explain why I have to give up as your Editor; (1) I work five/six days a week and at times 12 hours a day on roating shifts, (2) My 68 Falcon is run down due to lack of T.L.C. (3,900 Miles in the past year with 3 drivers-all city driving) both of my brand "X" cars are receiving the same treatment due to lack of time, (3) I also enjoy hunting, fishing and am into Radios, I haven't been fishing in over a year and get on the radio while working on the newsletter, I did get in some hunting the past three months (but at your expense by late newsletters) and got a 15 point White Tail (Arkansas count)..

CON'T

Enough about me, we now have a new Editor and it is

Ray Roberts, FCA Editor
12272 W. Atlantic Drive
Lakewood, CO 80228

So remember to send all information for the Newsletter to the new Editor. Here is some info on our new editor.

My first trip in a Falcon was in a light green 60 2 door that a friend had just got from his mom and Dad (yes, they were wealthy). We were into go-cart racing and my friend had wanted a Ranchero but his Mom wanted a back seat so he got the 2 door. It was nice but not your average High School hot rod.

After I graduraded from High School with a watch as a graduation present I was schocked in 1963 to be at Sill-TerHan Ford in Broomfield to see a Father and Son pick up the Son's bright Red Sprint convertible for a graduation present. So much for wealthy people and their Falcons.

In late 63 I was in Denver one day and spotted an all black 60 2 Dr with V-8 painted on the windshield on a car lot. Well, braving to see it led to having to buy it. It was a 260, V8 with automatic and dual exhausts. It lasted me until I had to join the Foreign car club in 65 with a new Simca (what a mistake).

I had great times with the 60 and got many a full tanks of gas by asking for a couple of dollars worth and when the attendant saw the dual pipes he naturally had to check the oil and forgot about the pump running. I had a ball eating Mustangs up until one day one with 289 on the fender blew me away. After that I always checked the front fender before I did anything foolish.

I went thru a series of Foreign cars and one Mustang before I got back to anything like a Falcon - a 61 Comet wagon that only lasted until something more exciting came along.

About 1974 a 60 Ranchero with a demolished front fender came along for $25.00 and we hauled everything in it until a friend at work made it worth my while to sell it to him. One exciting ride in it had the bumper jack fall through the rusted out floor at about 30 MPH - what a thrill!

In late 79 I found a 63½ Futura Hard Top that I just had to have and really enjoyed it until I found a Red 63 Futura Convertible with no rust and a 302 V8 three speed. Well, the Hardtop had to go to make room for the convertible and then along came a really beat up Sprint Hart Top that will give up it's suspension and trim this spring to convert the convertible to a Sprint Convertible (and I wasn't going to tell anybody) this fall I should have that Red Sprint Convertible I didn't get for graduation and have only waited 19 years for it.

INFLATION STRIKES FALCON PARTS While browsing at my local Ford Obsolete Parts store (Valley Obsolete, North Hollywood, CA) I came across an NOS Falcon (63-64) tachometer. I almost went into cardiac arrest when told the price - $250.00! So, anyone in the club wanting a cherry tach for their Sprint knows where to find one. I also have a bridge in New York I'd like to sell to whoever buys this item. It goes from Manhattan to Brooklyn and , while expensive, makes a great conversation piece. JIM HACKETT FCA #665

TECH TIP from Jim Hackett #665

I've restored three Falcons over the past few years and, after botching up to various degrees on a 63 Ranchero and my wife's 63 Standard Sedan I've refined the art of Falcon Restoration to a point where my current project, a 63 Rangoon red Sprint Convertible looks halfway decent.

Beside the ever present hassle of running down parts (try finding an NOS trunk crest for a 63) I ran across a few irritating restoration problems requiring a bit of ingenuity and luck to solve. As I've used some of the TECH TIP's on these pages myself, I'd like to return the favor with a few of my own.

R&R (Remove and Replace) Falcon Plastic Window Crank Knobs

In order to plate window cranks it's necessary to remove the plastic knob from the window crank. Because Ford used a plastic press-on type knob to speed Falcons down the assembly line it seems almost impossible to remove and replace one of these knobs without destroying it.

Here's my solution: First, remove the crank from the door panel using a KD #431 or a KD #430 (The 431 works best). KD Tools are available at any good automotive store and not too expensive. Be careful not to damage the vinyl while removing the crank.

Clamp the crank (knob side down) to a drill press table. If you don't have access to a drill press, clamp it to a work surface keeping both hands free to work with a hand electric drill. Chuck up a 1/8 diameter bit and, with a center punch, tap a starting point for the drill in the exact center of the knob spindle (the round part protruding from the back of the knob as you look down on it). Start drilling - medium pressure - medium speed - and go no deeper than about 1/4 inch into the spindle. The idea is to build up enough heat inside the knob to soften the plastic. The knob may start to spin along with the spindle that's ok. Grasp the knob and slowly pull it off the heated spindle. Note: be sure to save the wavy anti-rattle washer on the spindle and remember where it goes - behind the spindle head - not the knob.

Send your cranks off to your friendly neighborhood chrome-plater and, after six months or so when he finally gets around to finishing the job, it's time to put 'em back together.

Clean up the plastic knobs with some SOS or Brillo followed by a good plastic cleaner like 210 PLUS HEAVY DUTY PLASTIC SCRATCH REMOVER. If you really want to make 'em look trick - shoot a little clear polyurethane on the knobs.

Mix up some EPOXY. (I like DEVON 5 MINUTE EPOXY). Using a tooth-pick insert a small amount into the knob where the spindle goes in. Place the anti-rattle washer over the spindle - slip it through the crank and into the plastic knob. You may have to tap the spindle into the knob to seat it all the way. That's it!

THIRD ANNUAL NATIONAL MEET --CONVENTION NEWS

This year's convention in Memphis presents a variety of activities for participants and their families. Convention activities include a flea market, awards banquet, hospitality room, games, shopping tours, entertainment, and public display of the cars.

City attractions in the downtown area include Mud Island, which offers a museum, and outdoor, scale model of the mighty Mississippi River, restaurants, observation points, and excursion boat rides. Also in the downtown area is a group of restored Victorian homes to tour named Victorian Village, and paddlewheel boat rides on the river.

Near the center of town is the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery, the Memphis Zoo and Aquarium, a theme amusement park named Libertyland, the Pink Palace Museum and Planetarium, and Overton Square, a popular area of entertainment, restaurants and shows.

Other areas of town offer Graceland (Elvis Presley's home and gravesite), Chucalissa Indian Village and Museum, the National Ornamental Metal Museum and the Goldsmith Civic Garden Center.

An abundance of restaurants and fast food outlets as well as two large shopping malls are near the convention side. The Mall of Memphis, largest in the Mid-Scuth, has a full-sized Ice skating rink, a movie theatre, 100 stores, and a central fast food area with tables overlooking the ice rink. Hickory Ridge Mall has a comparable number of stores, eating establishments and a movie theatre.

Make your plans now to attend the Third Annual National meet of The FALCON CLUB of AMERICA on August 13 and 14, 1982.
